RUSSIANS BATTLE TO LIFT SIEGE

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 14—All high ranking German staff officers at Stalingrad were reported fleeing the city by air today as Soviet troops steadily smashed Nazi forces back from the suburbs in determined thrusts to lift the months-long siege of the Volga industrial center.

While vast Soviet armies moved forward in crushing assaults throughout the southern Russian battle front and scored new gains all the way from the Caucasus northward to Leningrad the tempo of fighting was increased in the Stalingrad area where the 22 encircled Nazi divisions face possible annihilation.

Severe Assaults

(Nazi radio broadcasts acknowledging furious offensive blows by the Russians all along the 1,800-mile front from the Caucasus to Leningrad said that particularly severe assaults were being launched in the Stalingrad area. This admission along with the reported

Essen Again Blasted By British Bombers

By WILLIAM WADE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Heavy British bombers last night blasted the German steel city of Essen, home of the huge Krupp armament works, with 100 tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs, the air ministry announced today.

The air ministry communique said that all the bombs were unloaded on the large war production center in the Ruhr within an elapsed time of only 12 minutes.

It was the second bombbardment of Essen within a week, the third consecutive raid on the Ruhr valley and the eighth against the Reich in 11 days.

Four of the huge British bombers, some capable of carrying bombs weighing 8000 pounds, were lost in the raid.

Planes of the British fighter command simultaneously carried out "intruder" operations over France and Holland to keep Nazi fighter planes on the ground during the Essen assault.

A force of Hudson bombers at the same time attacked an Axis convoy off the Dutch coast, hitting two supply vessels.

The night attack followed by only a few hours one of the greatest allied air assaults of the war against the occupied continent.

Reinforced Yanks Are Mopping Up Japanese

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Fresh and reinforced U. S. ground troops today are mopping up trapped Japanese forces on Guadalcanal amid battle signs that indicate the American and Nipponese high commands are "jockeying" for position in preparation for another major clash in the South Pacific.

With the exception of the U. S. aerial offensive against Japanese bases in the Central Solomons and small scale land advances by American troops, there has been little action in that area since the Nipponese invasion armada was smashed in a sea-air battle in mid-November.

Whether Japan or the United States will precipitate the next great clash is not known, but the belief is growing in official circles that one side or the other soon may move to gain the advantage of surprise.

Since the American victory November 13-15, U. S. reinforcements and supplies have been moving into Guadalcanal in a growing stream.

U. S. To Strengthen Consular Service In China State Department Reveals

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Indicating the importance which the American government attaches to coming events in China, the state department, it was learned authoritatively today, has decided to strengthen its consular representation in the Chinese republic.

A considerable number of foreign service officers are being sent to China. Some of them will open new consular offices in various parts of China which is still in the hands of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies. Others will be assigned to consular staffs already established in important centers.

The new foreign service officers are expected to play a part in the plans of preparing for the day when American aid will enable the Chinese armies to launch a general offensive to drive the Japanese forces out of China.

"Victory" Sausage To Replace Hot Dog

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—America's traditional hot dog and other sandwich meat varieties, such as bologna and braunschweiger, soon will be made of little meat and plenty of soybeans.

This news was left today with the National Independent Meat Packers' Association by Charles M. Elkinton of the Office of Price Administration.

Said Elkinton:

"There's no escape from it. The government will have to make and enforce an arbitrary sausage formula which will provide for the inclusion of soybean meal or some other substitute."

Brands Coal Strike As 'Reprehensible'

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Fuel Coordinator Harold L. Ickles today branded the 15-day old anthracite coal strike as "highly reprehensible."

Revealing that the strike has already caused a production loss of 500,000 tons of anthracite coal, Ickes said:

"The strike shows a reckless disregard of the country's welfare and of the union's contractural obligations and patriotic duties," Ickes charged.

Axis U-Boats Remain Menace To Allied Ships

Driven Far From U. S. Coast But Continue Attacks Far At Sea

U-BOAT RAIDS MAJOR PROBLEM

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Just a year after the first United Nations merchant vessel was torpedoed in American waters, Axis U-boats have been driven far from U. S. coastal waters, but a study of sinkings showed today that marauding submarines far at sea still are one of this nation's most perplexing problems.

According to naval records, a German U-boat on January 14, 1942, slipped through the Atlantic to within 100 miles of New York and blasted the Allied tanker Coimbra, which sank the following day.

The attack marked the beginning of a series of vicious raids on coastal shipping from Maine to the mouth of the Mississippi river which disrupted supply lines to South America. During the first few months the subs operated boldly almost within sight of American shores.

Reach Peak In June

These sinkings reached their peak in June, when 75 United Nations vessels were sunk along the Atlantic coast, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico. Since then the attacks in these areas have dropped sharply to a low of two in December while raids far at sea have increased.

Naval leaders are hopeful that

Strange Looking Bills Are 'Okeh' Is Word Of Officials

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—After a flood of inquiries from hundreds of suspicious merchants, Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the secret service in Chicago, gave the assurance today that those strange looking bills are okeh.

The "phoney" appearing bills with "national currency" at the top, and serial numbers and seal in brown, are legal tender all right. They are part of the $660,000,000 the Federal Reserve banks had printed in 1933 and stored away.

Now, with a shortage of currency developing, the old notes were put in circulation, saving some 45 tons of paper and an estimated $300,000 for new bills

Libyan Desert Battle Nearing In Tripoli Area

Axis Forces May Attempt Stand 200 Miles From Tripoli

BRITISH MOVING UP HEAVY SUPPORT

By GEORGE LAIT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY at Beurat El Hsun, Libya, Jan. 14—A second performance of the battle of El Alamein when the British Eighth army routed the Axis armies from Egypt, was developing today on the Libyan desert within 200 miles of Tripoli.

German and Italian tank and infantry forces, holding strong entrenchments behind a heavily sowed minefield, were believed ready at last to challenge the advance of Allied forces under the command of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, the Dour Scotchman who outwitted the indomitable Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

Holds Off Offensive

Gen. Montgomery, whose dash and daring are restricted only by his military judgment has been holding off offensive assaults in force until the main body of his army reaches the Axis entrenchments, and sufficient supplies and munitions are available for an all-out attack.

No Per Capita School Levy

Board Rejects Suggestion Of Per Capita Tax; Board Meets Wednesday

There will be no per capita tax levied for 1943 by the New Castle School Board. This action was made definite Wednesday night at the monthly meeting of the board, held in the administration building in East street.

For several months the matter had been considered as a revenue raiser which would take the place of an increase in the tax levy. For a time the idea seemed to be possible of materialization, but the vote of the board Wednesday night killed it.

"My opposition to a per capita tax is that it places an additional burden upon the small home owner," said Daniel B. Woolcock. "A five dollar per capita tax upon a man and his wife would be equivalent to a two mill increase upon a home assessed at $5000. On a home assessed at $3500 it would be practically a three mill increase. We do not need such an increase and I am opposing the per capita levy."

After some general discussion Dr. W. L. Cleland moved that further consideration of a per capita tax for 1943 be dispensed with and Woolcock seconded it. The vote was six to one in favor of killing the idea.

Frances Farmer Is Held In Jail

Hectic Program Of Events Is Reported By Police In Real Life Action

(International News Service)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 14.—Frances Farmer, 29, blonde stage and screen actress, was held without bail by police today after her arrest in a swank Hollywood hotel for violating parole from a drunk-driving sentence.

Arrest of the actress, according to police was only the anti-climax of a slambang drama which left the film capital giddy and included in its wake, police said, the following scenes:

1. Her dismissal from a leading role in a new picture ironically titled "No Escape."

2. Her one-two punch on a studio hairdresser which resulted in the beauty operator receiving a dislocated jaw.

3. Kicking, pummeling and scratching a feminine aircraft worker who tried to soothe her in an exclusive Hollywood restaurant.

4. Putting on a nude song and dance recital for an embarrassed detective and police matron who arrested her in the hotel room.

Police, as critics of the off-screen drama, were unfavorable in their reviews.

Transportation Problem Here Is Increasing

Faced with a transportation crisis in New Castle that threatens to get worse before its gets better, the United States Citizens Service Corps has formed a transportation committee which will go into the problem and attempt to suggest remedies before the transportation difficulty becomes insurmountable.

Dr. C. C. Green, head of the Service Corps called a group of citizens together Wednesday afternoon in The Castleton hotel and after some discussion the committee organized with J. Lepere Mathews as chairman and Roger Jewett of the Greater New Castle Association as secretary. The new committee supercedes the old office of defense transportation committee and many of the former committee are upon the new transportation committee.

U. S. Torpedo Boats Attack Jap Warships

Two Are Hit And Third Also Believed Hit In Guadalcanal Area

ENEMY RETIRES AFTER SEA CLASH

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—Force of Japanese destroyers apparently bent on reinforcing isolated enemy garrisons on Guadalcanal Island was driven off by speedy American motor torpedo boats which scored hits on two and possibly three of the Nipponese warships, the Navy announced today.

The incident occurred on the night of January 10-11, and two torpedo hits were scored on one enemy destroyer, one hit on a second destroyer and two possible hits on a third.

"The enemy force retired to the northwest," the Navy said.

Continue Advance

The Navy announcement added that American ground forces on Guadalcanal supported by planes, are continuing their advance against the isolated enemy garrison on the island.

This was the third day that the navy reported advances by American troops which apparently are beginning a large scale offensive against remaining Japanese troops on the embattled island.

Obviously, the Jap destroyer force was attempting to move in reinforcements and supplies to the enemy troops which have been cut off from contact with their bases for more than two months.

Also reported in the communique was another bombing raid by American forces against Nipponese bases in the central Solomons. The latest raid was against Nipponese installations at Rekata by (CQ) 135 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, but results were not reported.

The torpedo boat attack brought to 89 the number of Japanese vessels damaged to date in the Solomons campaign. In addition, 57 Jap ships have been sunk and six probably sunk.

Allies Smash At Lae-Salamaua Area

New Offensive May Be Nearing

Torrential Rains Hamper Ground Action Against Japs In New Guinea

HEAVY DAMAGE IN LAE ATTACKS

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 14.—Allied bombing attacks today smashed at the Japanese bases in the Lae-Salamaua district of New Guinea, strengthening the belief that this will be the next area of Allied offensives.

Torrential rains hampered ground action by American and Australian troops against the fragments of Japanese forces on the Sananda peninsula but Allied planes heavily bombed the strongly entrenched enemy remnants of the original invasion force of 15,000 men.

"Heavy and medium bombers, covered by a strong unit of fighter escorts, bombed airdrome and harbor installations and stores and barges at Lae," said today's communique from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"Damage was heavy and large fires were started. Supply dumps and barges along the shore were effectively strafed and a Japanese Zero fighter plane caught on the ground at Walahang was destroyed."

Medang and Finschhafen, west of Lae on the New Guinea coast, were heavily bombed.

Allied heavy bombers on a reconnaissance flight over Gasmata on the south shore of New Britain Island, east of New Guinea, shot down one and damaged two enemy fighter planes which attempted to intercept the mission.

WAR LABOR BOARD PLANS NEW MOVE IN COAL STRIKE

The WLB began its meeting immediately after being informed of the results of the strike vote, spokesmen said.

Although the board was to consider the vote as a final answer to its warning that "all the powers" of the WLB will be used to stop "this strike against the safety of the nation,' it was not expected that the case will be turned over to President Roosevelt today.

Board spokesmen pointed out that the normal week-end holiday, still temporarily in effect in the mines pending the institution of a 6-day work week agreement, would make immediate action by the army a virtual impossibility.

However, the board, preparing to act without the help of the President, was expected to take some definite action later in the day, possibly in answer to the strikers' protests that the government has not offered any definite proposals for the solution of the disputed issues—wages and an increased dues assessment by the United Mine Workers.

British advance units were black today with columns of supply and munitions convoys. Fresh troops and tank units also were moving up to the Beaurat line, 75 miles south of Misurata on the west coast of the Gulf of Sirte.

Misurata, the next objective in the Allied advance, is 120 miles from Tripoli, the last remaining Axis base in Libya.

American and British fighter and bomber planes operated well ahead of the battle line in almost ceaseless attacks on enemy supply dumps and supply trucks moving east from Tripoli.

Renewal of the air activity followed several days of bad weather in which tropical rains and sandstorms, heightened by gale-like winds, grounded the opposing air forces.

From dawn to dusk on Wednesday the roar of the motors of our attacking aircraft became monotonous evacuation of staff officers indicated the serious plight of the German forces trapped by large-scale Soviet encircling moves.

The Soviet high command in its noon communique reported that further German units had been dislodged from the factory area of Stalingrad by Russian assault detachments ridding the western suburbs of Nazi siege forces.

Destruction of 27 additional German blockhouses and pillboxes was announced.

Press Germans Westward

The red army command reported that the Germans in their desperation attempted to launch several unsuccessful counter-attacks. In one engagement alone 400 Nazis were killed.

(International News Service) MOSCOW, Jan. 14.—The official Soviet news agency Tass reported today in a frontline dispatch that General Philipov's tank forces had dislodged the Germans from their main defense lines in the northern Caucasus and advanced a distance of several miles.

As the Soviets pressed the Germans westward Russian troops moved into captured points immediately to consolidate their newly-won positions.

(The Berlin radio, according to Reuter's, quoted an announcement by the German high command stating that the Russians maintained attacks against Nazi positions at Stalingrad throughout last night despite a heavy blizzard raging there. At dawn heavy fighting still continued, it was added.)

One of the greatest successes of the Soviet offensive during the past 24 hours, the high command disclosed, was the liberation of a large group of Russian citizens from a Nazi concentration camp which the red army over-ran in its continued advance.

Advance In Caucasus

London, Jan. 14.—Russian troops in the Caucasus are advancing steadily toward Cherkessk, 55 miles west of captured Mineralyne Vodi, an Exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Moscow said today.

Other Soviet units were said to be strongly pressing their advance 45 miles northeast of Budyonnovsk.

A Reuter's dispatch from Moscow said that Russian forces advancing along the Caucasus railroad northwest of Mineralyne Vodi cleared the entire region of the Kumagorsky rail station, seven miles distant.

Russian tanks and Cossack divisions were said to be hard on the heels of retreating Germans in the Caucasus. One tank unit overran and captured an airdrome full of bombers, the Reuter's dispatch said.

The Soviet advances were being made despite ceaseless rain and foot-deep mud along the entire Caucasian front, the dispatch added.

attempt was made to service the load at all hours of the day and night and as a result buses were not put into the garage often enough for inspection and repairs. This has resulted in three of them burning out motors which thus far have not been repaired because of the lack of parts.

New schedules have been set up and an attempt made to care for the tremendous rush of traffic between 5:40 and ten in the morning and between 4 and 6:30 in the evening, Mr. Moore said he thought the new schedules would help.

Representatives of industries were present and it seems apparent that in a short time the traffic flow will be much heavier than it is now. The committee intends to study the problem in an objective fashion and if it is humanly possible to get relief for the situation.

U. S. Soldiers, Enemy Captives, Receive Parcels

American fighting men taken prisoner by Germany or Italy and interned American civilians receive regular American Red Cross standard food parcels and necessary clothing as soon as the International Red Cross committee in Geneva is notified of their capture and camp location, the office of war information announces. A total of 5,931 food parcels were reported dispatched to camps in Europe during November to United States prisoners of war and internees. Prisoners receive a package a week and internees one every two weeks.

In addition to the standard Red Cross parcels which have been carefully prepared by nutrition experts to counteract any vitamin deficiencies in the regular prison diet, a prisoner may also receive one supplementary parcel every 60 days from his family or friends as soon as they have been officially notified by the provost marshal general's office of his capture and whereabouts. Full directions for sending these parcels are sent to the next of kin at the time of notification. Information may also be obtained from any post office on what may be included in these parcels to prisoners of war, for which, under regulations recently issued by the Board of Economic Welfare, no individual export license is now required.

The American Red Cross food parcels contain evaporated milk, biscuit, cheese, cocoa, sardines, pork, beef, chocolate bars, sugar, coffee, powdered orange concentrate, prunes, cigarettes and smoking tobacco. The contents of each package weigh 8 1-4 pounds. The shipping weight is 11 pounds.

Large numbers of these standard food parcels have been shipped through the neutral port of Lisbon.

Up to December 9, 1942, Germany had reported 228 United States prisoners of war and 1,491 interned United States civilians, of whom 788 were men and 703 women. Italy had reported 15 United States prisoners of war and 21 United States internees of whom 13 were men and 8 women. Japan had reported 1,442 United States prisoners of war, 310 Army, 728 Marine Corps, and 404 Navy, and 1,883 United States internees, 1,596 men and 287 women. Japan holds many times this number of Americans.

Gives Principles For Winning Peace

Mrs. Roosevelt's Outline Calls For Knowledge, Imagination, Spiritual Change

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Four general principles for "winning the peace" were outlined today by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Our first objective is to win the war," the President's wife said in an address at the McMillin Academic theater at Columbia university.

While admitting it was impossible to make a blue-print now "because no one knows what the world will be like after the war," Mrs. Roosevelt said the four general principles for maintaining peace were: a knowledge of the causes and events before and after the last war; the imagination to realize what the people of England and other countries have gone through to attain unity in the present war; education in economics and language to promote better understanding between nations, and a spiritual change in which people must want peace enough to work for it.

eventually they will have enough escort vessels to insure safe passage of all cargoes, but it is not secret in the nation's capital that U-boat raids hundreds of miles off U. S. and South American shores still are a major problem.

Recently Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of U. S. naval forces in the European theater, said that the German U-boats "are our greatest problem," and that our shipping losses are "discomforting."

Using bases along the French coast, the German U-boats are in much better position to slash at American and British supply lines than they were in World War I, and the Nazi sub fleet is believed to be growing despite persistent counter attacks.

Gravity Of Menace

Gravity of the submarine menace is indicated by the fact that the navy alone has announced the sinking of 515 United Nations merchant vessels. This total does not include other sinkings of British and Allied ships whose survivors never touched American ports.

Of this total, approximately 312 ships were sunk off the Atlantic coast, in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico. A breakdown of this figure, by months, shows clearly how anti-submarine warfare drove the U-boats to safer hunting grounds far at sea:

January, 12 ships; February, 14; March, 38; April, 45; May, 52; June, 75; July, 34; August, 20; September, 8; October, 7; November, 5, and December, 2.

U-boat raids also have taken a terrific toll of personnel. Between September 27, 1941, to December 21, 1942, American merchant marine casualties totalled 3,211. This includes 491 known dead and 2,720 listed as missing.

Importance of submarine warfare is indicated by the fact that the United States is relying heavily on its own submersibles to cut Japan's extended supply lines. Since the Pacific conflict began, U. S. subs have sunk or damaged 163 Nipponese vessels of all types.

German and Italian submarines have piled up a greater score against United Nations vessels in the Atlantic and the Mediterranean mainly because of heavy traffic to American and British bases and to Russia.

sity of additional revenues was given. Secretary John B. Bechtol told the board that an increase in assessed values of over three million dollars would provide approximately $59,000 increased revenue. Against this is an increase in salaries of about $30,000 and some increased costs of materials. Also to be considered is the fact that the payment of delinquent taxes in the coming year will be down, as compared to previous years.

No one is certain yet whether an increased levy will be necessary but if it is, it will probably be smaller than was thought three months ago.

SCRAP OLD BOMBER

CHANUTE FIELD, Ill.—A bomber, built in 1918 for service against Germany, has been donated to the Chanute Field scrap collection by the University of Illinois which had the plane in its armory for use in its ROTC training program. The ship will be melted up and turned into weapons for use against the Nazis.

commander said that his troops now advancing through the Fezzan district of Libya are "making for Tripoli."

NEW DELI, Jan. 14.—Royal Air Force bombers inflicted considerable damage in an assault yesterday on the Jap-occupied village of Kyuaktan, on the Kaladan river northeast of Akyab, the British India command announced today.

CAIRO, Jan. 14.—Allied light bombers have opened assaults against Axis forward positions in the Buerat El Hsun-Wadi Zemzem area of Libya, the Middle East high command announced today.

The attacks resulted in aerial dogfights when the Allied fliers were challenged by Nazi craft. Four Messerschmitts which intercepted the Allied airmen were destroyed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Axis planes which yesterday attempted raids against Allied bases at Bone and Menerville in Algeria were successfully driven off, according to an Algiers radio broadcast reported today to the Office of War Information.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Adolf Hitler has issued orders to his generals in North Africa to liberate all captured French soldiers immediately and send them to France, the Paris radio reported today. Hitler asked the French government to take corresponding measures, the broadcast said.

The Story Of Famous Diamonds
The Diamond That Men Fought and Died For!

Discovered in 1701 in the Parteal Mines of India, the Regent Diamond has survived many stirring incidents. Found by a slave who slashed his leg to hide this 410-carat monster, it passed into the possession of Sir Thomas Pitt whose very life was often attempted. Hidden in the French Revolution, it was later found buried in a ditch on the Avenue des Champs-Elysees, in Paris, and later worn by Napoleon in his sword hilt. In recent years, the Regent was the prize possession of the French Government and was given the honored position at the Louvre in Paris.

GERMANS APPEAR HEMMED IN

DOUBTLESS considerable confusion will exist on the Russian front until it is seen at what points the Nazi high command will try to stop the retreat. It is more or less a fluid war with the fluidity now on the side of the Russians. Formerly Hitler had that advantage.

Last winter the Russians made a stand before Moscow that stopped the invaders and sent them reeling backward. They reorganized and slanted far to the southeast during the recent summer and fall, although they made no new progress at Moscow. Then the Russians determined to hold at Stalingrad, subsequently launching a winter counter attack that has driven the Nazis back an indeterminate distance.

Probably even now the Berlin strategists are trying to decide upon the points at which they will make their last ditch stands. When it is evident what those points are and whether the Nazis will be able to hold them against the Red army, it can be determined in what degree Hitler and his henchmen are imperiled.

Certainly the Nazi reverse in Russia is not a minor setback. The Germans are at least stalemated, facing the fact that they are hemmed in on the eastern front and hard put to command the military resources to meet a developing second front in the west.

JAPAN'S RUBBER

Japan, now controlling 90 per cent of the world's rubber production area, has plenty of the raw material from which rubber products are made but lacks markets for them. In 1940 the Malaya region shipped 1,200,000 tons of rubber, only 69,000 tons going to Japan. The Japs have need of little more raw rubber today and are reported to be converting the huge surplus into gasoline and fuel oil.

That gasoline can be made from rubber has been known since 1910. The Japs were familiar with the process and have built a plant in Malaya designed to achieve a monthly output of 100 tons of high octane gasoline. It is estimated that if Japan should use the 1,200,000 tons of raw rubber at its disposal for conversion into gasoline, the recovery would be about 900,000 tons of gasoline and fuel oil, about one-half of which would be high octane gasoline. This would be nearly enough to meet Japan's needs, although the product would be lower in quality than that available to America.

There were a million workers engaged in growing and tapping rubber trees when the war began in the Far East. By a strange development their labor may now be devoted to the fueling of motor cars instead of to giving them traction.

AIR CARGO TO CHINA

A surprising statement in President Roosevelt's accounting of America's war progress was the revelation that today more material is being delivered to China by airplane than ever was carried over the Burma Road.

There have been intimations that the air cargo carrier has assumed a more important role in this war than many persons realize. Germany used it effectively in taking Crete and currently has reinforced Tunisia largely by air-borne supplies. The day may be dawning when war will depend upon neither train, truck nor ship.

But the Allied accomplishment in flying supplies from India to China surpasses anything that the Axis has achieved in taking heavy cargo through the air. The Himalayas, highest mountains in the world, intervene. There are tremendous operational problems. To exceed the record set by the Burma road, the Allies must have scores of cargo planes shuttling back and forth between India and China.

There is justification for considerable optimism in this. The Chinese undoubtedly are being strengthened by Allied arms to such an extent that further Japanese gains in China are unlikely. And when all is in readiness, the Chinese will coordinate an attack upon Burma with an Allied drive out of India, with the object of clearing the enemy out of this wedge and merging Chinese and other Allied armies for an advance through China to Japan's final strongholds.

MARCH 15'S PROBLEM

The seriousness of the situation that confronts hundreds of thousands of wage earners is going to become increasingly apparent as March 15, the day for payment of the first 1942 income tax instalment draws near.

That date will find many indebted to the Federal Government who have never paid an income tax; many who had during the past year no conception of the size of their looming obligation. Some will be obliged to dip into capital to pay the toll on their incomes; but what recourse is open to those who have no capital, and insufficient current earnings to meet their debt?

Common sense dictates that government's necessary share of income shall be taken as the income accrues, rather than demanded long after the income has been widely expended without provision for the mortgage upon it. But government made the mistake in 1913 of starting off with a retroactive system, and has never until now been urged to correct it.

Correction is possible, through the Ruml plan or some other based on its principle—the principle of pay-as-you-go collection. It would not be surprising if the new Congress should find pressure for the adoption of such a plan irresistible when the really distressed taxpayers start to figuring how hard they are going to be hit and wondering how they are going to raise the money.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Those who yearn for the good old days can find a dispatch reporting that bandits shot up a town in Mexico.

If you didn't get your full quota of turkey this Christmas, remember that the Navy got 1,250,000 pounds and the boys sure deserve it.

Now that Christmas and New Years are over it may be said without violating a military secret that Hitler and Mussolini are not looking forward to a very happy Easter.

A government agronomist now tells of the castilla tree in Mexico. All you have to do is tap it and fluid rubber flows out. The next step ought to be to recruit a regiment of expert Yankee maple syrup boilers and send them south of the border with their sap buckets. They can get the rubber if anybody can.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LEARN TO FEED CHILD WISELY

As never before, it is easy today for the mother who cares, to learn about the kind of food her children need. She can learn this by reading her daily newspaper, reading books, magazine articles and government bulletins; and by attending courses in nutrition in her own immediate community put on by the Red Cross or other organizations.

According to the findings of the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at least a third of the families of the United States are eating diets that are below the safety line for good nutrition.

Views Of An Expert

While some children of low-income families are actually going hungry and some others have deficiency diseases such as rickets, scurvy, pellagra, many more are suffering from "hidden hungers that show up in more subtle ways. . . . Getting along on poor diets for weeks at a time takes its toll in chronic fatigue, shifting aches and pains and certain kinds of digestive disturbances. Inadequate diets prevent a child's normal growth and development. They lower his resistance to disease, destroy his sense of well-being and his joy in being alive and able to do all the things a normal child wants to do.

"Certainly, to let children grow up on poor diets is a shortsighted policy either from the family's or the nation's point of view."

So says Louise Stanley, of the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Labor, in her recent book, The Family in a World War.

Studies of this Bureau reveal that, as a rule, when diets are poor or only fair, they are low in certain minerals, vitamins and desirable proteins. They are low in such foods as milk and green, leafy vegetables, whole wheat grains and cereals, fruits, vegetables and lean cuts of meat.

The Bureau estimates that the average person, adult or child, would do well to eat twice the quantity of dairy products they use today; twice as much of the leafy, green and yellow vegetables; and about half as much more tomatoes and citrus fruits.

An easy way for you to find out if your child and family are getting a good diet is to check this diet against the yardstick provided by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., to be had by writing for it.

Three Cost Levels

The yardstick is expressed in terms of diet plans, menu guides and sample marketing lists. These diet plans are worked out at three cost levels—low, medium and liberal. Each plan draws from 11 main food groups. They include:

(1) milk in its various forms; (2) potatoes and sweet potatoes; (3) dry beans, peas and nuts; (4) tomatoes, citrus fruits; (5) leafy, green and yellow vegetables; (6) other vegetables and fruits; (7) eggs; (8) lean meat, poultry and fish; (9) flour, baked goods and assorted cereals; (10) fatty foods, such as butter, margarines, lard, oil, vegetable shortenings, salt pork and bacon; (11) sugars, including jams, jellies, honey, syrups and molasses. Not all these foods are, of course, of equal importance.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My two-year-old child must wear a brace on his leg. Whenever I take him out in public people ask me what the trouble is. How may I protect him from growing sensitive about it? Should I put him in long pants so as to cover the brace?

A. Decide on a brief answer to such questions and give it nonchalantly, turning the inquirer's attention quickly to something else. Dress him normally and help him and yourself to accept his handicap; then others will also.

He has the only place in town where you can buy meat and ride it home.

If you are having company for dinner he will sell you a matched pair and throw in the harness.

We asked him what horse meat tasted like.

He said "a little like norse."

"I don't belong to any of your orders, my friend," said the man approached, "I'm sorry".

"No," came the reply, "It's the same answer, I belong to none of those either."

COURTESY TO EMPLOYES

The financial depression reduced me to the necessity of earning my living as a housemaid. The woman who employed me until recently was kind and considerate with the result that I never made any mistakes or did an awkward thing from nervousness. Unfortunately, she left the city and my present employer is a nervous, nagging woman whose fault-finding causes me to break things and make all sorts of mistakes. Do, please, write a few lines rebuking such housewives. —E. G. C.

Answer: I well know the type of woman to whom this unfortunate girl refers. If not of the class that has suddenly reached the status of affording a servant, she is probably one of those middle-aged women who are chronically jealous of those much younger or more physically attractive than themselves. Well-bred people treat their servants with politeness, courtesy and friendliness, maintaining at the same time a formal dignity. Schools for housewives entering the class that can afford domestic employes are quite urgently needed as are training schools for maids, butlers and cooks.

Leave your present employer and seek a job in a war plant where your services will be appreciated. There is an urgent need for war workers. In addition to being useful in a vital industry, you will be well paid.

Question: I have been told that one should never congratulate a bride. What then should be said to her?—Alice.

Answer: Congratulate the bridegroom and wish the bride "good luck and much happiness." The bridegroom is congratulated on his good fortune in getting such a lovely wife. But the bride should never be congratulated on her good fortune in getting a husband. That would be an insulting insinuation.

Different Temper Apparent In Capital
Congressmen Scared Over Last Election
Even Senate Sits Up And Takes Notice

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The senate is rather tame, in comparison with the house of representatives, as congress gets into action. That's because the last election didn't upset the balance as much in the upper as in the lower legislative chamber. Naturally it didn't since the representatives are voted on all at a clatter and the senators only one-third at a time. Consequently it is not possible to transform the latter group's complexion as rapidly as the former's.

Nevertheless, the senate's considerably modified, too.

There have been quite a few changes in seats.

Furthermore, a goodly number of holdovers were badly scared by the defeat of representorial candidates in their respective states. They're apprehensive of similar fates of their own next time or the time afterward.

Leaderships reflect the tendency. Charles L. McNary of Oregon is head of a solid Republican bloc. It isn't exclusively Republican either. Charlie can count on quite a few Democratic ballots.

Barkley A Figurehead

On the Democratic side, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky ("Dean Alben," as President Roosevelt called him) nominally continues to boss the job. That, however, is because the anti-New Deal Democrats didn't deem it judicious to toss him overboard at the present juncture—not from any consideration for him personally, or for the New Deal, but in their own interest.

Except with the badly disorganized New Deal element, Alben has no more authority than a Jack Snipe.

The actual leadership of the Democratic faction is in the hands of Senator's Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, Harry F. Byrd of Vir-

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1942) By The Baltimore Sun

Flynn And Poletti

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.

IT IS the White House thesis, concurred in and supported by all the Administration spokesmen, that it is extremely reprehensible to point out that so far from rising above partisanship and politics in the conduct of the war, the President is consistently mindful of politics and his New Deal aides are using the war as a screen behind which to play their New Deal political game.

IT IS a shocking thing that this should be so, but the proof is overwhelming. Nor is the performance rendered more palatable by the effort to make it appear that all protests are partisan and unpatriotic. Apparently, this Administration wants support of its war policies to include freedom to do, without comment or criticism, exactly what it pleases in domestic affairs. The effrontery of this attitude is supreme. It assumes that the people as a whole are boobs, who, because we are engaged in a great war, must abandon their own sense of right and wrong and accept the idea that Mr. Roosevelt's every act is commendable.

A MORE nationally stultifying notion could hardly be advanced; nor one better calculated to weaken our fiber as a people in this great struggle. Instead of silent acquiescence in the unworthy acts of this Administration—instead of accepting them as something that should not be mentioned because we are in a war and Mr. Roosevelt is commander in chief—instead of that, these things should be exposed and expounded, denounced and condemned, until those responsible for them cease doing them and an end is made to this sordid political maneuvering in, perhaps, the most serious period of our history.

NO OTHER course can be justified. To permit these things to pass without protest is unintelligent, unwholesome and against the national interests. Take, for example, the occurrences of the last few days. The country had hardly ceased applauding the President's really good speech on the progress of the war when he stepped down from the lofty plane upon which that was delivered to a level low enough to permit him to name Mr. Eddie Flynn, the unsavory New York politician who narrowly escaped indictment on charges of graft, as Minister to Australia. Mr. Flynn, whose paving-block experiences made unfeasible his retention as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is thus—if the

HITLER RUTHLESSNESS

Trickles of news from Greece have made quite plain the shocking fact that this nation of seven million people is being deliberately and systematically starved to death by its German conquerors.

There is something more dangerous and ominous than sheer cruelty in this monstrous effort to exterminate a nation. It adds to other evidence that the New Order ideology, as Hitler fanatically conceives it—and has drilled it into German youth for a decade—gives the Germans, as the world's super people, the actual right to kill off non-German peoples and take their places.

As the Greeks are "removed", German colonists will rush to occupy the land and cities. The same process of extermination is being applied to the Jews in Poland. Slavic Poles are being dispossessed of property and reduced to the position of serfs—slaves deprived of education, ambition and leadership. Hollanders, according to reliable reports, have been forcibly removed to Germany to work—while Germans take their places in Dutch business, industry and agriculture. By holding a million and a half Frenchmen in Germany as war prisoners, and forcing thousands of others to leave their families by closing down French industries and telling the workers they must move to Germany to work or starve, Hitler has reduced the French birthrate to a figure that means steady reduction of France's population.

All that adds up to Hitler's scynical answer to the hopeful contention that occupied countries could not be held in subjugation permanently. He would simply kill them off to the point of numerical weakness—and enslave and degrade the surviving "inferiors."

To that the nations still free can have but one reply: Ruthless attack with bomb and cold steel until the Axis New Order and all who uphold it are obliterated.

WEEDS

From early spring to autumn's close
I walked my garden plot about
And everywhere a weed arose
I stopped and quickly pulled it out.

Here was a battle to be won
For beauty's sake at any cost.
When weeds a garden over run
The bloom that might have been is lost.

And so at every even-tide
With naked hand or pruning shears,
I saved for rose and phlox the pride
Of uncontaminate careers.

The weeds of life grow swiftly, too.
With man's true growth they interfere
And he must watch his lifetime through
Lest weeds shall strangle his career.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

This is not a cigaret advertisement because I haven't the slightest idea what brand the captain used.

But I wonder whether the same deal (or a reasonable facsimile thereof) couldn't be made with any of the more popular brands.

At any rate, the story came in that an American Army captain, unmarried, may not come back from the South Pacific when the war is over.

Captain N. happened to be on a small island, one mile wide, two miles long.

There were cocoanut groves and crystal-blue lagoons on the island and gorgeous flowers and a brilliant tropical sunshine.

All very nice, of course, but that sort of thing isn't of any particular interest to an American soldier.

The captain was about to get into his boat to return to his base, when he saw a bevy of beautiful girls sunning themselves on the beach.

"How long has this been going on?" the captain asked himself, and went back to find out.

The beauties couldn't speak English and the captain didn't know much of their lingo.

But he managed to be taken to the chief and before long a deal was closed.

The chief conveyed the entire island, including all vegetation, real estate and the beauties to the captain.

In payment he paid the chief one package of American cigarets which at army prices had cost him exactly 11 cents.

The story (guaranteed to be true) does not say whether any lawyers were present or just how the papers were drawn up.

Nor does it say whether the deal will still hold good when the cigarets are smoked up and when those tropical beauties have started to get on the captain's nerves.

It's a nice story because it shows what can be done with very little money.

For more particulars see your nearest travel agency.

And if you can't get an island, you can always dream yourself one.

Local U. S. Aviator Is Flying Instructor

Former Pilot Instructor Here Now Located At Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. George R. Horchler and baby son "Buddy", of 106 East Cherry street, have arrived at Phoenix, Arizona, where they joined the former's husband, Lieutenant George R. Horchler, who recently graduated from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School, at Phoenix, and was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Lieut. Horchler is a graduate of New Castle high school, class of June, 1935. He was engaged as a civilian pilot instructor at the Wilson Flying school here, and at the Grove City Airport, before enlisting. He was sworn into the U. S. Service in February, 1942, and called for duty in April.

Lieut. Horchler received his preflight training at Santa Anna Air Base, California; primary training at Tulare, Cal.; basic training at Lemoore, Cal., and advanced training at Phoenix, where he is now stationed as an advanced flying instructor.

SERVE NUTRITIOUS MEALS

PRESERVE VITAMINS and CALORIES
IN ALL THE FOOD YOU PREPARE

KEEP FOOD FROM WILTING OR FREEZING BY PROPER REFRIGERATION.

USE LITTLE OR NO WATER WHEN COOKING—By avoiding excessive amounts of cooking liquid, the dissolving and loss of water-soluble vitamins and minerals is held to a minimum.

AVOID VIOLENT BOILING—The right amount of heat, accurately controlled, eliminates violent boiling with its vitamin-destroying effect.

COOK IN COVERED UTENSILS—Don't stir—Air destroys certain vitamins and stirring puts extra air in food. Electric heat is so evenly distributed that there are no "hot spots" to cause scorching or burning. Therefore, foods can be cooked in covered utensils without stirring.

YOUR ELECTRIC APPLIANCES WILL HELP DO THE JOB

In freezing or torrid weather, food requires a proper degree of temperature—that's where your electric refrigerator saves every possible food element from the time you make the purchase until you prepare it for eating. . . . Your electric range is ideal for preparing foods with a minimum of nutrition loss. Surface units control the heating so satisfactorily that a very small amount of water is required. . . The added advantage of waterless cooking is the preservation of the delicate and appetizing taste of food. . . . . Since the manufacturers of electric ranges are building war equipment and you must wait, why not buy WAR BONDS now to purchase the range you want after Victory is won.

Widow Is Proud To Have 7 Sons In Armed Forces

(International News Service)

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La.—If any "Army Mother of the Year" honors ever are awarded there are seven reasons why Mrs. W. H. Waters of Chicago should be high in the running.

A widow residing at 10206 South Bishop street in Chicago, Mrs. Waters has seven of her eight sons in the army.

One of them, Private First Class Louis D. Waters is a member of the band of the 46th Field Artillery Brigade, (Colored) at Camp Livingston, La. He has been in the army since October 7, 1941.

Another, Second Lieutenant Paul Waters has just graduated from the Engineers' Officers Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Va. Lawrence is with the Quartermaster Corps at Fort Bragg, N. C.; Milton is training with the 31st Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Sill, Okla.; and John is with the Engineers Corps at Elgin, Va.

Latest two of the Waters clan to join the army are Kenneth and Warren, now training at Camp Lee, Va. The eighth son, Alfred, is at home.

How does Mrs. Waters feel about her "greatest possible" contribution to her country's war effort? "Proud—and pretty good," says her son Louis.

May Remove Snow At Cascade Lake To Aid Skaters

Joe Alexander, head of the city's park system, proposed today to confer with Captain Carl C. Andreasen and others affiliated with the Service Men's Aid group, following which it is believed Alexander will draw a plan whereby Cascade park lake may be suitable for good skating.

During a discussion with council the captain asked that the snow be removed when necessary and when the ice is rough it be flooded to make skating better. He pointed out that Cascade park was under Alexander's jurisdiction. Alexander said he favors good skating there.

During council session a bill was submitted which provides for the city to buy insurance whereby it will be protected against liability for damage to property or injury to anyone caused by neglect. This measure would cover the Cascade park situation.

Last Chance To Secure Ration Book Number 1

If you haven't received your Ration Book number one, you'd better get it Friday. Friday is the last day to get them, according to the war price and ration office. Unless you have number one you don't get number two.

This notice has nothing to do with people who have been getting sugar and coffee on the ration books. That is number one. It applies to people who for some reason or other have never applied for a ration book. Particularly this applies to people who had a stock of sugar in the house and didn't need a ration book.

If you never got your number one ration book, get it on Friday. The ration office is on the first floor of the Aiken school on Pearson street. The office is open from nine to four.

If the Sphinx could only talk, it probably would say: "What ever became of that Rommel fellow who used to hang around here?"

Knockdown furniture, which can easily be taken apart, will soon be on the market. Sounds ideal for a lease-breaking party.

Motorists Will Have Much Time On Their Hands This Summer

Gas rationing and lack of tires will undoubtedly mean that the average home owner will spend more time at home this spring and summer than ever before. It is, indeed, wise to start planning now as to how to use that time in a profitable manner, especially now when man power is so vitally needed in our defense industries.

Lack of materials and conditions plainly tell us that now, more than ever, to guard your home from deterioration—now that new construction has been sharply restricted.

We may suggest an economical plan which we believe will work to the best advantage of every home owner. First, by planning now to paint your home this Spring or Summer. By so doing you'll be serving the interest of your country and yourself. Second, by buying House Paints, Varnishes and Enamels this month at Panella's Lumber & Supply Company at a saving of 20 per cent less than last year's ceiling advertised prices if purchased in January. Buy now and paint later.

Start Testimony In Flynn Trial

Actor Accused Of Attacks Upon Two Under-Age Girls In California

By JULIAN HARTT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Patricia Marsden, reddish-blonde sister of Betty Hansen, the latter one of two underage girls who claim Errol Flynn attacked them, was slated to take the witness stand today as the first witness for the state in the trial of the Irish-blooded film star.

Before a jury of nine women and three men, Mrs. Marsden was expected to relate how Blonde Betty, fresh from her home town of Lincoln, Neb., and eager for a career in films, left Mrs. Marsden's Los Angeles home after a quarrel early last September.

She also is expected to tell how Betty was located a month later by police, to whom Betty recited how she allegedly was attacked by Flynn in an upstairs bedroom of a British sportsman's film colony mansion.

The actual presentation of testimony started on the fourth day after Flynn's trial first was called in the superior court of Judge Leslie E. Still.

Two and a half days were devoted to the selection of a jury to determine the Tassmanian-born star's innocence or guilt of charges that he criminally assaulted Miss Hansen and Peggy Larue Satterlee, the latter assertedly aboard Flynn's yacht "Sirocco."

Chief Defense Counsel Jerry Giesler struck the first blow in Flynn's avowed effort to win "complete vindication" by hinting briefly at developments which the attorney "hoped and expected to show" through the testimony of those involved.

COMPROMISE ON TAX PLAN LIKELY

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The treasury today was reported to be ready to effect a compromise with congressional advocates of the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan.

At the same time it was authoritatively reported that the administration plans to again press for adoption of the "spendings tax" plan which was rejected last session by both the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committees.

Sponsors of the Ruml plan were seeking to obtain passage of legislation before income taxes fall due March 15. The proposal wipes 1942 taxes off the books and requires taxpayers to begin current payments under the higher 1943 tax rates.

The treasury was said by congressional tax leaders to be willing to skip only the first 19 percent of the 1942 income tax. This is the combined normal and surtax rate on the lowest class of incomes.

The remainder of the 1942 tax liability, under the compromise plan, would be payable in installments in future years.

Hold Assassination Of Tresca Political

New York Police Grill Ex-Convict On Theory Murderer Was Hired By Enemies

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Working on the theory that 68-year-old Carlo Tresca fell before the gun of a professional killer hired by the Italian editor's political enemies, police today continued grilling a diminutive ex-convict and gunman.

The prisoner, Carmine Galente, was known to have reported to his probation office little more than two hours before Tresca was shot to death in front of his Fifth avenue office. Eye-witnesses, who saw Galente leave the parole office, said he entered an automobile bearing the same license plates as that seen speeding from the murder scene a short time later.

The belief that Tresca was killed at the instigation of those he offended in his writings, gained credence with the evidence that his little newspaper "Il Martello" (The Hammer) had dealt blows at Communists and Fascists alike and had created for him a host of enemies.

Some OPA Rules For Auto Driving

Nine Are Given To Explain What Driving Can Be Done In Eastern Area

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The OPA held that motorists along the eastern seaboard could make social stops while they are en route to and from work without violating the ban on pleasure driving. It listed nine rules to explain to motorists just where they could drive:

1. To work and where your work takes you. A social stop may be made going to or from work, provided it is not an "unreasonable" distance off your regular route.

2. To visit relatives or make social calls, if you are in the Army or Navy and have furlough papers or a liberty card.

3. To church services, weddings, funerals.

4. To do essential shopping, to carry essential purchases too large for bus or street car transportation.

5. To easily accessible restaurants.

6. To meetings necessary to the war effort or public welfare such as those of citizens' associations, Red Cross, parent-teacher associations, OCD and private organizations.

7. To receive medical attention. To get pharmaceutical supplies in case of inclement weather.

8. To protect valuable property, whether public or private.

9. To view a house or apartment which the driver is reasonably sure of renting or purchasing.

U. S. Warships Find No Subs Along Coast

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET, AT SEA, Jan. 8 (Delayed)—Evidence that Axis submarines have been driven from ocean shipping lanes off the east coast and out of the Caribbean area came today with completion of a long sweep by United States warships.

Units of the Atlantic fleet, constantly alert to ensnare U-boats, finished the mission without a single brush with the enemy. Everything indicated that the Axis undersea raiders simply were not anywhere near.

The roving search by the fleet ships moved along off the eastern seaboard, extended across mainline shipping paths out at sea, and as far south as American bases in the West Indies.

No Enemy Subs Sighted

Fact that no enemy subs were contacted was regarded as ample proof that the U-boats have withdrawn from these regions, at least temporarily. The commander of the fleet force described the trip as "the most quiet war-time cruise" he ever has made. It was the most uneventful that this correspondent yet has experienced.

Ships engaged in the mission were underway on Christmas day and New Years. Special meals were served on each occasion at mid-day for both officers and crew. There was no further mass observance of the feasts since none of the vessels had a chaplain aboard.

The holidays which were not holidays and routine gunnery drills were highlights of the trip, because, otherwise, all hands were engaged in long, unrewarded watchfulness for the subs.

Unceasing Vigil

Officers and men maintained unceasing vigil and their guns always were ready for action in proof that their trip was anything but a mid-winter pleasure junket. In bitter cold climes and in the warmer Caribbean weather, all hands were at their stations before the break of day.

Excitement came in one swift disappointing flurry. A destroyer reported the possibility of a submarine contact. A lookout aboard it had "seen" a periscope. Whirling about into full speed, the little ship darted toward the "periscope," only to find that it was a fish.

Experts, meanwhile, conjectured as to the whereabouts of the Axis undersea fleet. Some observers contended that the majority of Hitler's subs have been despatched southward to operate off the South American and African coasts where a few sinkings have been reported lately. A few predict that the U-boats will return to prey along the east coast and the Caribbean, but the answer to that one came from a blue-jacket aboard this warship when he said:

"We're beating off Schikelgruber's boats so they won't want to come back."

PRISONERS BUSY

Senate confirms him—to succeed an outstanding career diplomat, as the President's personal representative to a sensitive nation whose friendship is of very great importance to us.

THE INEXCUSABLE nature of this appointment of a man of tarnished reputation and without any known qualification for such a post, is further aggravated by the news that, through Presidential influence, an important post in the War Department is to be conferred upon Mr. Charles Poletti, former Lieutenant Governor of New York, and for some 20 days acting Governor in the gap between Governor Lehman's resignation and Mr. Dewey's inaugural. Mr. Poletti is another New York politician who distinguished himself in those 20 days by releasing from jail an unprecedented number of criminals, among them a labor thug, whom he pardoned without consultation with either presiding judge or prosecuting attorney.

IN ADDITION, Mr. Roosevelt, as other Presidents have done, recently has provided jobs for various lame-duck Congressmen and Senators defeated in the last election. These are not particularly creditable though not bad enough to cause concern or call for criticism. But the Flynn appointment is without excuse or defense. Here, a discredited politician, replacing a man with a fine record and conceded ability, is given an important post in an allied country where our interests are vital and our relationships delicate—a post for which he is totally unfitted and to which he has no claim. The Senate cannot do anything about the Poletti appointment, but it can about that of Mr. Flynn.

SUPPORT OF the war and loyalty to the President's foreign policies ought not to include tolerance of such a selection as this. Rejection by the Senate would be beneficial to this country, an act of friendship for Australia and helpful to the President, in that it might convince him that he cannot, with impunity, follow the noble words of a fine speech with such ignoble acts.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt in a message to the country's farmers: "Food is a weapon in total war fully as important in its way as guns or planes or tanks."

CHICAGO—Dr. Anton J. Carlson, noted physiologist, urges aged workers be retained in industry: "It is sheer waste, bad biology and gross injustice all around to feed, house and clothe this army of older workers in idleness."

NEW YORK—Wendell Willkie against abuse of censorship: "Don't try to censor us too much. Let us be free while we fight for freedom."

CHICAGO—Clarence K. Streit, suggests a constitutional convention of the western democracies: "Our first and basic problem in making peace is to make sure that we and our friends will remain united after victory."

What's What At A Glance

ginia, and Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

How Senator Wheeler happened to be included in this mixture is queer. All the rest of them are ultra-conservatives. Burton's a radical. He isn't for the New Deal, though—says it's dictatorial; not democratic.

(Don't let anybody make the mistake of assuming that a single one of this aggregation is otherwise than pro all-out war. That isn't the subject that they disagree on with the administration.)

There's another peculiar thing. The National Federation of Federal Employes raises the yell that the government is over-hiring workers. It's a trade union in effect. Who'd expect that a trade union would holler that it's being overly patronized—that it's getting too much money?

Still, Luther C. Steward, it's president, says so.

He blames administration incompetency.

He undoubtedly is the country's most competent authority on the subject.

As well as being mis-managed it's downright crooked, according to his account.

Two Million Too Many

Luther's story is that in three years we've increased our administrative force from about a million to nearly three million administrative workers and he estimates that a large proportion of the extra two millions are largely superfluous. They're not all men; they're partly gals. Nevertheless they're expensive.

The idea is—if you want a job, you can get it from the government.

The official explanation is that it has been "forced to expand personnel."

Phooey—"forced to—!" It's been forced not to.

'Give Good Books' Is Emphasized In '43 Book Campaign

"The 1943 Victory Book campaign is on its way to your town and to your library," writes John M. Connor, director of the Victory Book campaign. Until March 5, its purpose is to collect from the American public as many books, with the emphasis on good books, as it is possible to collect in the given time, to send away for our soldiers, sailors, marines and flyers to read.

The Victory Book campaign will operate under the joint sponsorship of the American Library Association, the American Red Cross, and the United Service Associations. The local committee will follow the same plan, being captained by the local library. Miss Elizabeth Potts of the American Red Cross and P. J. Flaherty of the U. S. O. The public library will continue as the collection center.

Emphasis is not in terms of a staggering over-all quota, but rather in terms of books each individual can give to the individual soldier and sailor.

Mr. Connor states, "We ask that the book sorting be ruthless. Let's not have our men complain that they are getting a lot of sentimental novels by early Victorian ladies. Ship only books in good condition; trucks and freight cars are needed for vital materials.

William Bacon, librarian of Erie public library is Victory Book campaign director for the State of Pennsylvania. Mr. Bacon says: "Don't get the idea that the supply of good books in your community is exhausted by your tremendous collections of a year ago. Adopt as your slogan: Last year we cleaned their attics . . . this year let's move into the parlor."

You will hear of this on your radio and in your clubs. Plan to get out your books today and bring them to the library tomorrow. Get several books for individual men you know. Think as you look at your treasures, 'John would enjoy this one;' here's just the book for Bob. Charles would take to this book on photography, Bill will eat up this book on electric wiring. While your particular book may not reach the individual you have in mind, another Bob or Bill will appreciate it, you will serve the army and navy, and save sorting space and time for the committee, by being selective yourself about what books you will give.

Deluge Of Bills For Legislature

Assembly May Be Swamped When It Reconvenes On Next Monday

SCORES OF BILLS ARE BEING DRAWN

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—A deluge of bills threatens to swamp the general assembly when it reconvenes Monday following a two-week recess.

The legislators have been absent from the capital, following short opening sessions on January 5, but they have by no means been idle, it was disclosed today by Robert S. Frey, director of the legislative reference bureau.

Scores and scores of requests are daily pouring into the bureau for bills to be drawn up for submission to the House and Senate when they open what legislative leaders fondly hope will be a short, three-months' session.

Frey reported that when the 135th biennial session opened his bureau was already working on 200 bills.

"That will be at least doubled or tripled by the nineteenth," he predicted. "I expect that we'll have close to 500 bills by that time." This will be exclusive of the many bills which numerous legislators draw up themselves or which are submitted to them by various organizations for introduction.

Some Of Proposals

The bills introduced will be varied and comprehensive. Here are some of the proposals the new legislature may be expected to receive for its consideration:

(1) Abolition of capital punishment.
(2) The election of the attorney general, rather than his appointment by the governor as at present.
(3) A unicameral legislature in place of the present two chambers.
(4) Appointment of mercantile appraisers and inheritance tax collectors by the secretary of revenue instead of the auditor general.
(5) Increased pay for teachers and state employes.
(6) Reduction of motor license fees.
(7) Abolition of the department of commerce, which was created in 1939.
(8) Enactment of a state income tax.
(9) State insurance against damage from mine cave-ins in the anthracite region.
(10) Reduction in the voting age to 18.
(11) New tax abatement laws.
(12) Tax reduction.
(13) A soldiers' bonus of $500 for all who are honorably discharged.
(14) Abolition of the law requiring recipients of old age pensions to post repayment bonds.
(15) Post-war rehiring of discharged soldier-employes by private industry.
(15) Legislative and congressional reapportionment.
(17) Strengthened liquor laws.
(18) Legalization of bingo, slot machines and other forms of chance, as well as a public lottery.
(19) Home rule for cities.

A legislative committee will also introduce legislation to reduce printing costs.

BARBERS HAVE ANNUAL BANQUET

Several Score Participate In Their Best Banquet Yet Held

Several score members of the Journeyman Barbers International Union with Master barbers as their guests held their annual banquet in The Castleton hotel Wednesday night.

Al Candioto was the toastmaster. Following a delicious chicken dinner, Charles Santello, representing the Master barbers and employers, thanked the members of the union for the hospitality and asserted that such gatherings were beneficial to both groups.

Frank Mele, president of local 278 J.B.I.U., explained the progress the union has made, said banquets of the organization had promoted good fellowship between Master barbers and journeymen and added he anticipates a further increase in the union's ranks.

Edward H. Fritz, sports editor of The News, related some sports yarns, then likened the efforts to increase the union rolls to fishing, asserting that if the proper methods are used and unions are reasonable, membership is sure to be increased.

Frank Fazzone stated that he had been one of the advocates of the 60 and 35 cents, haircut and shave prices respectively, and said he foresaw the time when the barber may receive 75 cents for a haircut and 50 cents for a shave.

The Master barbers and employers and the union barbers voted thanks to the committee, especially to President Frank Mele in having so successfully arranged for the banquet which it was unanimously agreed was the best banquet yet held.

Sees Republican Sweep During 1944

Congressman Hails Victory In Missouri Election—"New Deal On Way Out"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—Rep. J. William Ditter (R) Pa., chairman of the national republican congressional committee today hailed the GOP victory in Missouri's sixth district special election as evidence that "the voters are on the march" for a Repuplican sweep in 1944.

In the election Tuesday, Ditter pointed out, Marion T. Bennett, son of the late Rep. Phillip A. Bennett, almost doubled his father's 1942 majority over Sam M. Wear, Democrat. Both candidates are from Springfield, Mo.

The result, Ditter said, is "not only gratifying but reassuring that the new deal government of theories, executive orders and bureaucrats is on the way out." He added:

"Further, it is conclusive evidence that the people of this country are both disgusted with and tired of the bungling and mismanagement of the war effort by the present administration.

"It should be noted that in 1942 the republican candidates carried this normally democratic district by a majority of 7,789 out of a total of 85,681 votes cast. Tuesday, Bennett, son of the deceased member, running against the same democratic candidate, carried the district by over 15,000 votes out of a total of 53,771, practically doubling his father's majority.

"The voters are on the march in ever increasing numbers for a republican sweep of the presidency and congress in 1944."

Banning Of Civil Marriage Ceremonies Urged By Clergymen

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 13.—Banning of civil marriage ceremonies in Pennsylvania was sought today by a group of prominent Pittsburgh officials and clergymen who suggested that the state adopt a law similar to the one in Maryland which specifies that all marriages must be performed by members of the cloth.

Judge Lois McBride, of Allegheny county, told the meeting of ministers and officials:

"At all times and particularly these of world stress, I believe that the sanctity and seriousness of the marriage ceremony should be associated with the influence and stability of religious training and teaching.

"It seems to me that young people who marry in the church of their religious persuasion have a better chance to make a go of their solemn undertaking."

Register of wills John M. Huston revealed that of the 317 marriage licenses issued in the last week of December, 24 percent of the couples were married by officials other than clergy

MAN FALLS OFF LADDER

Charles Evans, aged 42 years, of 1000 Delaware avenue, suffered contusions of the right leg and foot when he fell off a ladder at his work Wednesday morning. He was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

You can tell the people who realize how big the job is, but you can't tell the optimists anything.

U. S. Diplomats From France Are Held By Nazis

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 — The state department today disclosed that Germany has refused to permit the return to the United States of American diplomats and nationals in France until this country furnishes information concerning German officials in French North Africa.

The German government also has assumed complete jurisdiction over the Americans who were in the unoccupied zone of France at the time that it was taken over by German military forces. The Americans are being taken to Germany under guard of German SS troops.

The state department said that the information desired by Germany is being obtained with a view to its transmission to the governments of the captured enemy nationals, as is customary.

"However," the state department said, "The American government does not consider this information about German nationals has any relation to the question of the exchange of French and American personnel."

The state department also announced that several of the former French embassy officials who were interned at Hershey, Pa., and who have offered their services to the Allied cause, have been released. Names of the officials were not made public.

Germany was believed to be holding the American diplomats and other nationals in Franec as virtual hostages for members of the German armistice commission in Africa and the German consul in Algiers. It was thought that the Germans were aware of the fact that most of the members of the former Vichy embassy in Washington were reluctant to return to France and had offered their services to the Allies. For this reason, it was believed the Germans decided to bargain over the Americans held in France.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 10
CARE IN PREPARATION OF RETURN

A Federal income tax return is a report to the government of one's taxable income for the year. It is a statement required by law of all single persons, and all married persons not living with husband or wife, whose gross income for the year amounted to $500, or more and of all married persons living with husband or wife throughout the taxable year, whose combined gross income for the year was $1,200 or more.

It is no longer required that returns be sworn to, but the taxpayer must make a declaration on the return that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

Income tax returns are kept on file and, under certain conditions, are subject to inspection by state officials in connection with the determination of state income tax liability, as well as by other law enforcement officers.

After a return has been filed, it is checked for accuracy by the Internal Revenue Service, and the taxpayer may be subject to examination or inquiry relative to matters connected with the return or his income, and he may be asked for further substantiation of statements made in the return.

It is important, therefore, that persons subject to the income tax prepare complete and accurate returns, as required, both in their own interest and in the interest of economy in the administration of the law. As an aid in accurate filing of returns, taxpayers should keep a record of income received during the year, and at the time of preparing a return they should carefully read the instructions accompanying the return form. Employees receiving Statements of Victory Tax Withheld should retain these receipts for evidence in supporting the claim for credit for Victory tax withheld.

Youths Of Eighteen Being Classified

Will Be Called Into Service According To Their Birthdays, Officials State

Youths of eighteen, who presented themselves for registration last month, are now being classified and given their order numbers, it was stated at the office of the local boards here today.

These youths will not be called into service until the men in preceding age groups have been exhausted, and are being given their order numbers according to the date of the birth, the oldest receiving the lower order numbers. When they are called up for examination it will be in that order.

It is unlikely that any of them will be called for a few more months.

As each youth becomes 18 years of age, he is expected to register with the Selective Service board in his district.

Penny Shortage Here Is Reported Relieved; More Nickels Are Needed

During the past two weeks, pennies have been turned in to local banks in sufficient quantities that the scarcity of the copper coin here has been relieved. Uncle Sam's campaign to put idle pennies that have not seen the light of day, some of them for years, into circulation, has had effect, banks here report.

Not so, however with nickels, which are still needed and if those who have some of these coins lying idle in china pigs, glass jars, or buried in a hole in the back yard would unearth them and take them to a bank, they can be put into active service. For the past few weeks it has been necessary for the banks to ration their supply of nickels and while the coin collections that have been turned in lately in large numbers have helped, more are needed.

An interesting sidelight on the need for pennies was the explanation given in cases where prices have risen recently from, for example, five or ten cents to an odd number of cents, stores in which this is the case need a large number of pennies with which to make change.

The campaign to put idle coins back to work in trade channels has resulted in a number of interesting incidents throughout the country.

Record Gathering

Record number of pennies garnered to date is 1,000,000 which were gathered in by a University of Pittsburgh economics professor, J. Ellwood Amos, with the aid of his students.

In Cleveland a war worker turned in 60 glass banks containing more than 10,000 Jefferson nickels, which he had been collecting for three years. He exchanged them for "folding money"—$500 of it—which he said he was going to apply on the mortgage on his home.

A couple in the same city exchanged the pennies and nickels in 31 'piggy' banks which they had been collecting as a hobby for war savings bonds.

Students of the College of the City of New York collected 10,000 pennies in two weeks, devoting a day a week to the task.

When one newspaper offered a $25 war bond as a prize for the most unusual coin receptable, it was deluged with 500,000 pennies in one day; a 200-year-old charcoal burning flatiron, filled with $15 in pennies and nickels, took the prize.

Bandages Badly Needed In England

Returned Soldier Tells Of Scarcity Of Surgical Dressings At R.A.F. Hospital

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., Jan. 14.—Urgent need for surgical dressings and bandages in the hospitals of England was expressed by Sergt. Edward Jones, Purple Heart winner, as he visited his home in Donora while convalescing from injuries received in action over the continent.

Although he lacked nothing in medical care at the R.A.F. hospital in which he was treated, Jones attested that the nurses and doctors could use no more bandage than absolutely necessary for any wound. Dressings are scarce, he said, and carefully guarded against waste.

Returning to this country, the soldier was amazed at the complacency of the American people in the face of the pressing needs of our armed forces abroad and of our allies.

Visiting several surgical dressing centers in the district, Jones voiced an appeal to volunteer women workers to speed their work.

He praised the grim, hard-working English civilians and told how they practiced the most rigid economy in meeting their needs in order to keep their forces well provisioned. Class distinction is nil in the distribution of food and other necessities, he said.

Ration Books Of Auto Drivers To Be Seized Now

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—The Pittsburgh OPA office today ordered seizure "at the scene" of gasoline ration books whose owners are found guilty of pleasure driving.

According to the new order, an OPA investigator—effective Friday at 7 p. m.—may decide on the spot whether to lift a motorist's gasoline coupon book.

Following seizure, the book will be turned over to the alleged violator's local rationing board and the motorist will be called for a hearing.

Loran L. Lewis, chief OPA attorney in Pittsburgh, disclosed that 57 per cent of the motorists checked during the present survey "admittedly violated the regulations."

Jesus Winning Souls

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Jesus and the woman of Samaria

"He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal."—John 4:36.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Jan. 17 is John 4:1-42, the Golden Text being John 4:36, "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal.")

In this lesson we are with Jesus in Samaria, where He and His disciples tarried on their way to Galilee. The Samaritans and Jews hated each other, and many Jews would not pass through that part of the country, although it was a direct road to Galilee. They would rather cross the Jordan river twice and make a goodly detour than pass that way.

Jesus, however, seems to have had no such scruples. He and His disciples took the great North road, and at noon they came to Jacob's well, near the city of Sychar. His disciples went to the city to get food, and Jesus, tired with the journey, rested at the well.

To the well came a woman of Samaria, and Jesus asked her if she would give Him a drink. "How is it that thou, being a Jew, asketh drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria?" she answered.

Would Give Living Water

Jesus' answer was: "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink, thou wouldn't have asked of Him, and He would have given thee living water."

The woman, probably not understanding, said, "Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast thou that living water? Art thou greater than our father, Jacob, which gave us the well, and drank thereof himself, and his children, and his cattle?"

Jesus' answer was: "Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again. But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

Woman Misunderstands

The woman asked Jesus to give her that water, "that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw." She evidently thought it some magic potion that would relieve her of thirst for the rest of her life. Of course it was not physical thirst Jesus meant, but spiritual, the acceptance of the message He had brought satisfying the thirsty soul and making it thereafter free from thirst.

Jesus then told the Samaritan woman to go and call her husband that He might give him the message. "I have no husband," she answered, and Jesus said to her that she spoke the truth because she had had five husbands and the man with whom she was then living was not her husband. You see this woman with whom Jesus talked was not even a good woman. She was when we call a sinner, but the Lord, who knew of her sin, still talked to her, giving her the message which should save her. Isn't that reproof of those who keep themselves away from those we consider "bad"?

If Jesus, who had no faults, could freely associate with those the world called evil, surely we should not hold ourselves aloof.

The Samaritans and the Jews quarreled about the location of the temple. The woman reminded Jesus of this, saying: "Our fathers worshiped in this mountain: and ye say, that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship." She was anxious, you see, to turn the talk from her own affairs. Jesus' answer was:

"Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain (Mount Gerizim), nor yet in Jerusalem, worship the Father. Ye worship we know not what: we know what we worship: for salvation is of the Jews. But the hour cometh and now is, when the true worshiper shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

Speaks of Messiah

The woman then spoke of the coming of the Messiah, saying that when He came, He would tell them all things. "Jesus saith unto her, I that speak unto thee am He."

The disciples returned and found Jesus talking to this woman and wondered, but did not ask Him why He talked to her. They offered Him food, but He refused, as He said, "I have meat to eat that ye know not of." They didn't understand that and asked each other if anyone had given Him anything to eat.

Jesus was filled with enthusiasm and told His disciples that they had no need to wait for the harvest: "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest." He had found a fertile field ready for the harvest right in Samaria, He was telling them.

Many of the Samarians believed on Him from what the woman had told them, and many more after they had seen and heard Him. They asked Him to stay with them. Jesus tarried with them two days, and then went on to Galilee.

Truly, "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal," as our Golden Text says. The wages Jesus received for His reaping were indeed the "fruit unto life eternal," the spiritual salvation of these poor people who heard Him.

Not only in a temple dedicated to worship may we truly worship God. But wherever we are—on a mountain, a valley, in our offices, workshops, schools, etc. "God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

(International News Service)

FORT EUSTIS, Va.—Here's one for the books. Corp. Joseph Catapano of Brooklyn, N. Y., recently traveled 500 miles in four hours at a cost of 25 cents. On furlough he started for Greenwood, S. C., taking a bus to the junction. Fare—10 cents. A civilian gave him a lift to Newport News, Va., where he boarded a bus for Langley Field, an army air base. Bus fee—15 cents. Without making any previous arrangements—"just working on a hunch," Catapano says—he got a ride in an army plane to Columbia. From Columbia he secured another ride to Greenwood 30 miles away in 25 minutes.

'Greyhounds', Wampum Host Quints On Friday

Shenango-East Brook Face Big Berthas; Union At Mt. Jackson

Two of the Big Berthas of Section 20—New Wilmington and Wampum—should rumble along the victorious path again on Friday night.

The unwhipped "Greyhounds" play host to East Brook on the small community house hardwood, while Wampum entertains Shenango Township, Bessemer, which shares the loop lead with New Wilmington and the "Indians", is idle.

Coach John Eagleson's proteges, triumphant three times in league circles, experienced difficulty against Mt. Jackson and Shenango. The "Brookers", listed as a shade weaker than the "Mounties" and Shenango, figure to put up a stiff battle before wilting.

Shenango Away

With Coy Craine's play hampered by a sprained ankle, Wampum may find the going tough against Shenango, but should have enough to notch its third league win. Craine, thus far, has led his mates to 10 wins in 11 starts, amassing 217 points.

Wampum looms as one of the sweetest units ever to prance along local boards. Rangy and loaded with spirit, the Hennonmen pass with unerring precision, break unusually fast and hit the nets with unbelievable accuracy as their close to 50-point average will attest.

Mr. Jackson's brusque quintet hopes to dent the victory column at the expense of Union Township, on the Jacks' court. Defeated by New Wilmington and Wampum, the Mounties provided the bigwigs with numerous unhappy moments before crumbling.

CHURCH LEAGUE 2ND HALF RACE GAMES ARE FAST

St. Vitus, New Castle Ramblers And Wesley M. E. Are Victorious

New Castle Church league aggregations inaugurated the second half by unfurling three exciting games last night on the Y hardwood.

St. Vitus, first half champs, continued their winning ways by slaughtering Tifereth Israel, 62-34; the New Castle Ramblers jolted the First Presbyterians, 45-33, and Wesley Methodists spanked St. George, 39-29.

The Israel quint, which failed to win a game during the first half of hostilities, flashed fine form in the opening half, trailing by a 28-23 count. In the third, however, Congini, V. Ross and Lauro pocketed 15 fielders to rout the Tifereth Israel club. V. Ross, with 16 points, was high man. I. Solomon led the Israel attack.

Scores 24 Points

D. Kegarise arched 24 points as the Wesleys trounced St. George. The Greeks were behind by a 14-10 count at halftime. Kegarise's scoring spree in the last half, when he tallied 16 points, took the steam out of the Greeks. E. Hrisoulas starred for the losers, getting a dozen points.

A newcomer in the loop, the New Castle Ramblers, showed lots of savvy in disposing of the First Presbyterians. Eroe and B. Stock each counted 10 markers. Bradford and Tintsman led the losers' attack.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Tapped out past the "30" mark—

Our tee-off paragraph is supplied by friend Jack Sell, Pittsburgh scribe, who reports that much-traveled Alec Shellogg, Sheep Hill district athlete, is stationed at Miami Beach, Fla., with the U. S. Army Air Force. . . .

The ex-Ne-Ca-Hi lineman was involved in an athletic scandal in January, 1938, when he was elected football captain at Notre Dame. A few days after receiving the coveted post, Alec, along with brother, Fred, who was a tackle, too, on the Irish squad, left the campus. . . .

After the Irish episode, Alec joined the Chicago Bears and was later sold to Brooklyn and to the Pitt Steelers. That's the last we heard about him. His brother played with Long Island in 1940. His whereabouts is a mystery, although I did hear that he, too, is in the army.

County Commissioner Joseph "Jokey" Travers, Duquesne's No. 1 rooter here, questions an article printed in The News Monday which stated that the Dukes have never beaten Westminster at New Wilmington. M. J. Radock, Titan tub beating ace, was queried in view of the fact that he forwarded the item. . . .

With whisk broom in hand, Radock dusted the files and unearthed the lowdown which shows that Travers is right. Back in 1925, the Dukes flattened the Titans 25-15 and duplicated the feat the next season, 37-15. . . .

Chicago University is the lone Big Ten cage team that won't play the same opponent on successive nights this season. It's just as well for who in the ——— would want to see the Maroons play twice in a row? . . .

Primo Carnera to take up professional wrestling in Berlin, according to a UP item. Didn't know they had any more fat heads as big as Carnera left in Berlin. Things are pretty bad in Hitlerland when they've got to pass out that kind of rubbish. . . .

FELLER TO SAY 'I DO' SATURDAY

Marrying At This Time In Accordance With Wishes Of Late Father

(International News Service)

VAN METER, Ia., Jan. 14—Bob Feller, former pitching star of the Cleveland Indians, home for the funeral of his father, William, this afternoon, will fly to Waukegan, Ill., tomorrow to wed Miss Virginia Winther.

Bob, now a chief specialist in the navy, learned of his father's death when his ship docked at an Atlantic port. He immediately obtained leave and took a plane for Van Meter.

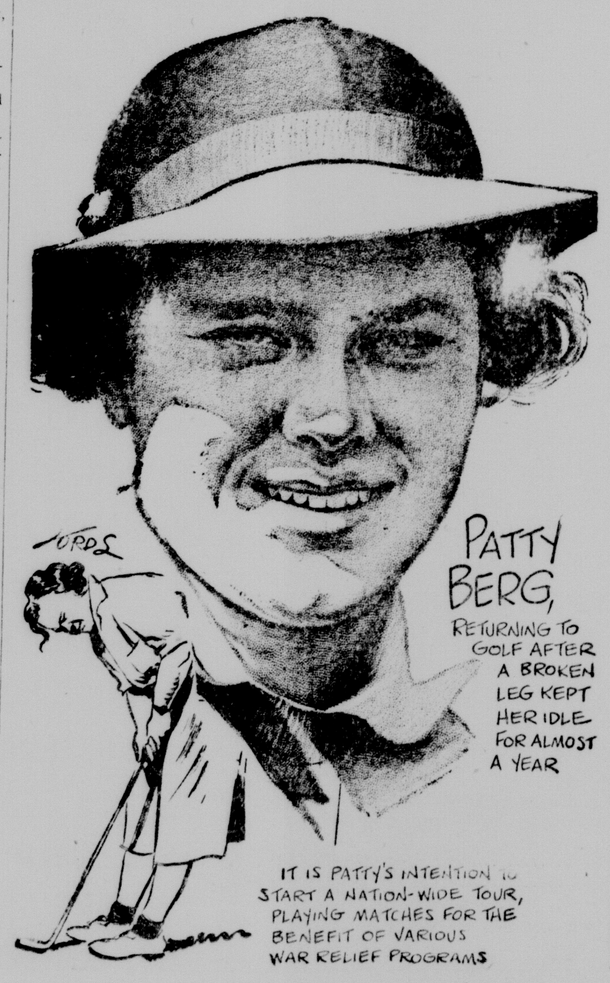
He said it was in accordance with his father's wishes that he was marrying Miss Winther at this time. Their romance began in 1940 when Feller was in spring training with the Indians at Winter Park, Fla., and Miss Winther was a student at Rollins college.

The wedding ceremony will be performed Saturday.

SAYS ARTOE BEST

George Halas, who left his Chicago Bears to be an officer in the Navy, says Lee Artoe, tackle, is the best he ever saw at rushing a passer.

RETURNING TO LINKS — By Jack Sords



FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—The football season is supposed to be over, but it looks as though it will last all winter for me.

I'm the guy who picked Georgia Tech to beat Texas in the Cotton Bowl and who also said that Texas didn't belong in the same league with the Georgians. To make this confession complete I topped all that by picking five out of the six bowl games wrong. But nobody is paying much attention to the latter. It's the eyes of Texas that are on me now. If I was any closer it probably would be their knuckles.

There must be a boom on down there from the way they toss their money around on stationery and postage.

Sent To Bed

But there are two things I want to straighten out belatedly in connection with those picks and I would have done it sooner when the letters first began to arrive after New Year's but except that I took one look at the outcome of the games and went home and went to bed on the pretext of being sick. I've just got back to the office.

In the first place, some gent in Dallas takes a clipping from the Times-Herold and writes in the margin that I am a "Yankee dumb cluck." I resent that very much, and if this ever comes to the attention of certain people back in Mississippi there is going to be some fighting and a-feuding between Mississippi and Texas, Mississipians don't like for one of their own to be called a Yankee.

In the second place, that Texas-Georgia Tech game should be thrown out and re-played on the grounds that Texas used 12 men. I've got the evidence.

Here it is right here in Lloyd Gregory's Houston Post column, which somebody has sent in with the marginal note that I am a "poor ignorant sap."

We won't argue about that latter particular point. But Mr. Gregory has written that I may have furnished the spark that the Texas Longhorns needed to beat Tech by that 14 to 7 count. When I picked Tech to win and said the Longhorns didn't belong in the same league with Tech I started something, according to Mr. Gregory who writes.

"At any rate, the Texas boys, who had been indifferent to the game, saw Mr. Carver's story and got mad."

In other words, without me, Texas might have lost. I am not a duly qualified member of the team. They won the game with my aid. Then I was a 12th man against Tech.

I could insist on those grounds that the game be thrown out and replayed to give Tech another chance, except that I'm quite content to let well enough alone. (And I imagine Tech is too).

And I would like to say this to Mr. Jere R. Hayes, the Dallas sports editor: You needn't worry longer about your shortcomings as an expert, as you did in that recent column devoted to me. When you said in there that my fan mail would increase on the strength (or weakness) of my bowl picks you proved your right to a place among all the prophets. Get yourself a set of whiskers, brother, and go to the head of the prophet class.

For the benefit of all those Texans from towns all around who wrote in and suggested that I should pay that state a visit some time, and learn about sports, I have been to Texas, but even if I hadn't visited there before I wouldn't accept these invitations. I don't like the way they sound.

Should Quit Experting

In conclusion, I'd like to tell myself (and when a guy starts talking to himself it's bad) that if I can't pick winners any better than I did last season, and especially any better than I did in the bowl games, and most especially any better than I did the Texas-Georgia Tech game, I should qut experting and go back to plowing that cotton.

In the meantime, I'm headed back to bed. The doctor can call it anything he likes, but I know a relapse brought on by over-indulgence in fan mail when I see one. And the one visitor that I positively do not want to see now is the mail man.

Handle me gently, doc., those Texans have whipped me down.

'CANES AT FALLS ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Localites Gird For Second Loop Tiff; Stage Stiff Workouts

Unsuccessful in the Section III inaugural here last week, New Castle high's tossers seek to roll in their first loop conquest at Beaver Falls on Friday night against a plucky Beaver Falls unit.

Hopeful of hitting the form displayed during the third and fourth periods of the Aliquippa clash, Coach Bridenbaugh has been sending his pupils through stiff sessions all week.

Harvey Burris, who made his debut at center and John Zubkowsky, who started at guard, will appear in their new posts. Razzano, Jacobs and Andrews will complete the varsity brigade.

Beaver Falls, rated as one of the pre-season favorites, ran into a squall, losing to a surprising potent Ellwood City quint last Friday.

While the Tigers and 'Canes square off, Ellwood City invades Ambridge and New Brighton fires at Aliquippa.

Dudley Is Named On Pro Dream Club

Pittsburgher Is First Rookie Chosen Since Davey O'Brien In '39

By JACK MAHON

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—A feather-footed rookie playing his first year in the cash and carry game; five members of the great Chicago Bears and the immortal Don Hutson dominate the 1942 all-pro league football team—and the amazing Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins could do no better than make the second squad!—it was revealed today.

Hutson Unanimous Pick

Release of the dream team by the league revealed that Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' "miracle" end, was the unanimous choice of the committee of newspapermen who voted before the Bears'-Redskins' championship play-off in Washington.

Bill Dudley, the rookie of the year, of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was honored with a halfback post.

Here it is:

Official 1942 All-National League Team

x-Wilbur Wilkin, Washington, (l.t.)
x-Danny Fortmann, Chi. Bears, (l.g.)
x-Clyde Turner, Chi. Bears (c.)
Bill Edwards, New York, (r.g.)
Lee Artoe, Chi. Bears, (r.t.)
Bob Masterson, Washington, (r.e.)
x-Sid Luckman, Chi. Bears (q.b.)
x-Cecil Isbell, Green Bay, (l.h.)
William Dudley, Pittsburgh, (r.h.)
Gary Famiglietti, Chi. Bears (f.b.)
x-First team selection in 1941.

Dudley proved the first rookie to be chosen since little Davie O'Brien was named quarterback in 1939. Like Fortman, Bill the bullet missed being a unanimous choice by only one vote.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Ike Craig, Chicago basketball official, doesn't like pro basketball. Its too tough, he reported today in announcing his retirement from a contract to officiate in 11 National Pro loop games. He wails that "it's just too much of a headache working in games where players trip and push and bang each other around." Ike explained, however, there are some who play cleanly and act like gentlemen but added there are too many of the other kind.

Now and then one sees a dead heat between the nags. Horse fans who assembled at the New Orleans fair grounds track witnessed such yesterday when Maepeace and Pittstraw finished nose and nose. In the split pay-off, the favored Maepeace returned $2.60. Pittstraw paid $4.40.

Abe Simon, former mammoth heavyweight, is in a Long Island aircraft factory, having been rejected by the army. . . Prior to boxing Jimmy Bivins, Ezzard Charles, Cincinnatian light-heavyweight, had only once been knocked down. Bivins caused Ezzard to become more closely connected with the floor, dumping him four times in their recent Cleveland bout.

Classic Will Start at 8:15; Titan Lineup To Be Shifted

DRIVING DECREE MAY CUT CROWD

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 14—Big time collegiate basketball returns to Westminster's campus, tonight at 8:15 o'clock, when the rampaging Duquesne Dukes clash with the Titans in the district's top engagement.

The Smoky City passers, victorious in a half dozen skirmishes and defeated only once this season, 42-40 by Creighton, rule a heavy favorite.

Unbeaten at New Wilmington in the last three and a half seasons, the Washabaughmen rate an outside chance of spattering the Dazzlesmen.

Titans Split Even

While the Dukes bowled over Salem, Muskingum, Wooster, Wyoming, DePaul and Waynesburg, Westminster absorbed a 45-43 setback administered by Allegheny in the lid-lifter and was forced to rally to repulse Bethany, 42-40, last week.

LINEUP

Titans		Dukes
O'Hara	F.	Paffrath
Heddleston	F.	Benyak
Miller	C.	Barry
Goldblum	G.	Noszka
Ossoff	G.	Karpinsky

The Titan lineup will be shifted around due to a shoulder injury to Bob Dierken. Don Heddleston will fill the forward post left vacant by the injured Dierken. At center, Captain Fred Miller is slated to start with Charley Goldblum moving into guard.

Rivals since back in 1919, the Dukes and Titans play two clashes this season. During the last bounce campaign, Duquesne won at home but lost a 37-34 decision at New Wilmington.

Because of the "no pleasure" driving ban, the classic is not expected to lure the usual overflowing crowd, such as the one that view last winter's thriller here.

Boston Hoss Book Syndicate Is Seized

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Arrests in Rhode Island, Connecticut and other Massachusetts communities were expected today to follow the smashing of the "nerve center" of a $90,000,000 gambling syndicate with the seizure of 30 men and women in Boston raids.

Staging raids in Boston for the first time in eight years, state law enforcement agents visited a dozen establishments from which the ring allegedly operated horse and numbers bookings. Attorney General Robert T. Bushnell, directing the investigation, indicated arrests in other New England cities would follow.

Dr. Harry J. Sagansky, a "mystery man" of Boston's night life, was arrested as the alleged king-pin of the ring, whose members are charged with conspiracy and promoting a lottery. All but six of the 30, including Dr. Sagansky, were freed on bail totalling $146,200.

Recipe For Long Life—Keep Active

Erie Man, 83, Recommends Work, Keeping Busy To Stave Off Worry

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 14.—Want to live a long, long time yet?

Then heed the advice of David Ziegler, of Erie, who is still going strong at the ripe old age of 83 years.

Never be idle—just keep working every day to shoo away the worries, and don't become a pill swallower.

The aged carpenter is free to talk on the subject, because he still possesses all faculties of hearing, sight and mind and doesn't even need eyeglasses. Still actively engaged at his trade, Ziegler occupies his evenings with embroidery and other handcraft "just to keep busy."

"I don't pay any attention to diet and all those fancy pills and medicine," says he. "In fact, I find a little snifter at the corner taproom doesn't hurt occasionally."

"Do anything," says Ziegler, "but keep active. That doesn't give you time to worry and I believe worrying is the fastest course to the deathbed."

Proof that his theories work out for animals, too, is Tim, Ziegler's pet parrot who has reached the ripe old age of 36 and still does tricks and follows his master all over the house proudly showing off his perfect physical condition.

The Erieite plans to continue his carpentry—"Keepin' active so I can enjoy life and reach at least 100." WiGrib-n"un kStateJimo.rT

CONTINUE CLASSES

A class for wardens and fire watchers which started Tuesday night in city hall will be held on that night until further notice. Attendants are from the First and Second precincts of the Second ward, First precinct of the Third ward and First precinct of the Fourth ward.

WESTFIELD CHURCH WINTER COMMUNION

The annual winter communion of Westfield Presbyterian church will be observed Sunday morning, January 17, at 11 o'clock.

BANQUETS

This is the time of year for banquets. All the lodges and clubs and colleges and companies have them.

From a public health standpoint, they are good.

A banquet is usually rather extensive. A good chef is employed. An expert usually plans the menu. A good quality of food is served expertly.

Every one present gets a good lesson about good food and how to serve it. The meal is properly balanced. They have meat and vegetables and butter and fruit and milk and coffee. These things are served in a variety of ways.

There is an atmosphere of good fellowship. The tables look fine. The appetite is improved because the banquet is usually a little late. The speakers are the only ones who may not be comfortable.

After the food has disappeared everyone (except the aforesaid speakers) relaxes. The speakers are usually good enough to keep everybody interested. A couple of jokes exercise the diaphragm, digestion proceeds favorably. There is some singing and a vote of thanks. There are a lot of good people in the world. We are part of it. Let us do our best to make it better.

That was a fine banquet, wasn't it?

Local Artists Win Awards In Exhibit

Two New Castle artists have received awards in the Eighth Annual New Year show at the Butler Art Institute in Youngstown, January 1 to January 31. Everett Hoffman of 806 West Washington street won the second award in the watercolor group, and in the same group the third prize was taken by Fred Alexander, 725 Monroe street. Hoffman's painting was titled "Personalities in Stone" and Alexander's, "Savannah Flats".

Merle E. Campbell, formerly of New Castle, also had work accepted in the show.

Girl Scout Council Plans Activities

Mrs. J. A. Pearson Is Named Chairman For Annual Scout Week Observance

A large delegation of Council members and leaders will go by train to Pittsburgh on Friday, January 22, to attend a special camp discussion and the presentation of a war emergency program.

Owing to the scarcity of metals, it will soon be impossible to replace scout pins and girls are asked by the Council to be careful of the ones they now have.

On Monday, January 25, the senior scout dinner will be held at the Baptist church with the handicraft division in charge. The Council meets again on Wednesday, February 10.

Anti-Invasion Maneuvers Are Planned For State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—Simulating large-scale anti-invasion maneuvers, a warning was issued Wednesday by Gov. Arthur H. James that Pennsylvania faces an imminent German attack.

The chief executive, acting in his capacity of commander-in-chief of the state's armed forces, made public a "communique" received from Col. William S. Diener, commanding officer of the army's Central Pennsylvania Internal Security District, who has been designated as maneuver director.

The "communique" stated that "credible information has been received from inside Germany that a new long-range bomber has been developed and apparently successfully tested and it is certainly capable of reaching the United States with a heavy bomb load."

"There is reason to believe," continued the "communique," that "the situation has developed in such a way that Hitler has decided on a desperate effort to strike America with an air raid. A large enemy task force as seen off the coast of Norway, possibly to attack Russian convoys, but a number of aircraft carriers were identified."

The maneuver, believed to be the largest in scope ever undertaken in the country, will be climaxed with a surprise air raid drill. Regular army forces, under Major Gen. Milton A. Reckord, commanding general of the Third Service Command at Baltimore, Md., will participate, as will the Civilian Defense organization, the State Guard and its auxiliary and the State Police.

First State

Governor James said that "this maneuver, although short, will be intended to duplicate insofar as the civilian war establishment—both passive and combat—is concerned, the maneuvers for actual battle training which are staged by regular army troops in preparation for actual war."

"Pennsylvania is perhaps the first state to attempt this advanced and ultimate form of training, short of hand-to-hand contact with the enemy, and I feel sure will make a comprehensive and altogether competent showing," asserted the governor.

The anti-invasion maneuver will begin on a state-wide basis and gradually be reduced as the intentions of the theoretical enemy become known. The problem will finally be reduced, as the facts of the rain unfold, to an actual combat situation in one single critical area.

From time to time, between now and the time the practice air raid climaxes the entire maneuver, bulletins will be issued outlining the general theoretical situation under which the maneuver will be conducted. When the anti-invasion tactics open, the conditions under which the operation will be made will be as realistic as possible short of the use of actual gunpowder, bullets and bombs and every person concerned will be expected to carry out his task precisely as it has been assigned and just as though an actual air raid was in progress.

New Cast Iron Process Found

Technique To Cut Down Defects, Rejections Perfected By Penn State Researcher

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 14.—A new technique for cutting down defects and rejections in the war production of cast iron products has been perfected at Pennsylvania State College by Dr. Charles R. Austin, professor of metallurgy, and M. M. Lipnick of the Mechanite Metal Corporation, Pittsburgh.

The inventors say the method makes it possible to determine from examination of the surfaces of polished and etched castings the best temperatures at which to pour different kinds of high tensile gray cast iron to obtain the greatest strength.

Since temperature profoundly affects the qualities of the finished castings, the performances of the alloys for use in the war production program depends to a great extent upon the temperature at which the castings are poured.

Railroads Doing Excellent Job

No Immediate Prospect Of Any Move For Government Control

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 14.—The nation's railroads are doing such a good job of handling wartime transportation that there is no immediate prospect of government control or operation, Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director declared today.

"Our railroad transportation system is doing a much better job in World War II than in World War I (when the government took over their operation)," Eastman said. "The lack of coordination and unified transports that prevailed in the last war simply does not prevail now."

In peacetime, Eastman was an advocate of government railroad ownership, but he declared at a press conference that nothing was to be gained by a change from private control at this time.

He foresaw an increasing demand for women to replace men as truck drivers, pointing out that motor truck transportation is far harder hit than the railroads by the critical manpower situation.

Discussing the growing development of barge conversion for river and inter-costal gasoline and oil transports, he revealed that conversion of some 230 steel barges in the Mississippi river is under way with several already in service. Plans are under way, he added, for building 50 wooden barges as gas-oil carriers.

Eastman declared that railroads and shippers are cooperating to reduce to a minimum idle time of freight cars.

LARGEST CLASS

(International News Service)

LAKEHURST, N. J., Jan. 14.—The largest class ever to be taught to fly blimps has convened at the U. S. Naval Air Station here, the navy announced Wednesday.

There are 93 members in the class which, in addition to being the largest to start training so far, is also the first in which pilot training is being given to enlisted men. The group is composed of 20 officers, 60 aviation cadets and 13 enlisted men. The course is expected to take about four months.

The word "stateroom" originated during a period before the Civil War, when it became a fad to have the rooms on the Mississippi River steamboats named for the various states.
